THE MISSILE

With varied expressions on their faces and thoughts of victory in their minds, the students of Petersburg High show the spirit which makes a school great. It is this enthusiasm which typifies our past school year.

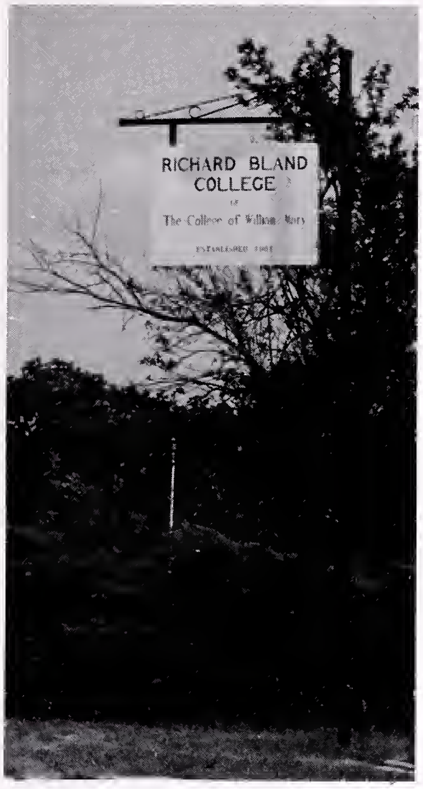
The Challenge Of Tomorrow



RICHARD BLAND
COLLEGE

To the young people of today, the future offers a greater challenge than ever before. It is our task to meet this challenge fully prepared to accept it so that each and every one of us can add something to the world around us.

Many opportunities to face tomorrow's challenge surround us and need only to be taken up. Our local area provides opportunities both educational and recreational which the high school student can take advantage of in his endeavor to successfully face the future. Personal interests and ambitions can be fulfilled through these outlets and experience can be gained. It is these experiences and our high school preparation which prepare us for the road ahead. Through opportunity we face the challenge of tomorrow.

The Petersburg General Hospital School of Nursing is only one of the many excellent opportunities which the Petersburg area offers to the members of our generation. Here girls seeking careers in the medical field can pursue their education.

Our Teacher, Friend, and Guide—

As a teacher and friend of the students at Petersburg High School, Mr. Richard A. Zaruba has done much to instill in us that strong sense of responsibility which is so necessary if we are to face successfully the challenge of tomorrow. Through his influence those around him have become better school citizens and will in turn be better community citizens.

His understanding, patience, wisdom, and ingenuity have suited him well for his work as advisor to our Student Cooperative Association, and his abilities are clearly shown in the capable guidance he gives both the Student Council and Inter-Club Council.

That perfect combination of vitality, diligence, and sincere interest in us students makes him a veritable human dynamo capable of accomplishing almost any task — large or small. Without his aid and direction, our Fall Festival and Ring Dances and the Senior Prom would not be nearly as successful as we know them to be, and our memories of them not nearly so fond. Our unforgettable production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I" would not have been possible were it not for the endless hours which he so willingly gave in striving to make it the great success that it was. Always working behind the scenes, he has contributed beyond measure to every phase of student life at P.H.S.

Therefore, in a spirit of admiration and gratitude, the staff of the 1967 MISSILE proudly dedicates this annual to Mr. Richard A. Zaruba — our teacher, friend, and guide.

With the moment of the Ring Queen's crowning approaching, Mr. Betts and Mr. Zaruba settle a final question concerning the presentation of the roses to the queen.

Pausing for a short rest during an off moment in his busy schedule, Mr. Zaruba smokes his favorite pipe as he gives the auditorium and stage lights one final check before the first performance of "The King and I."

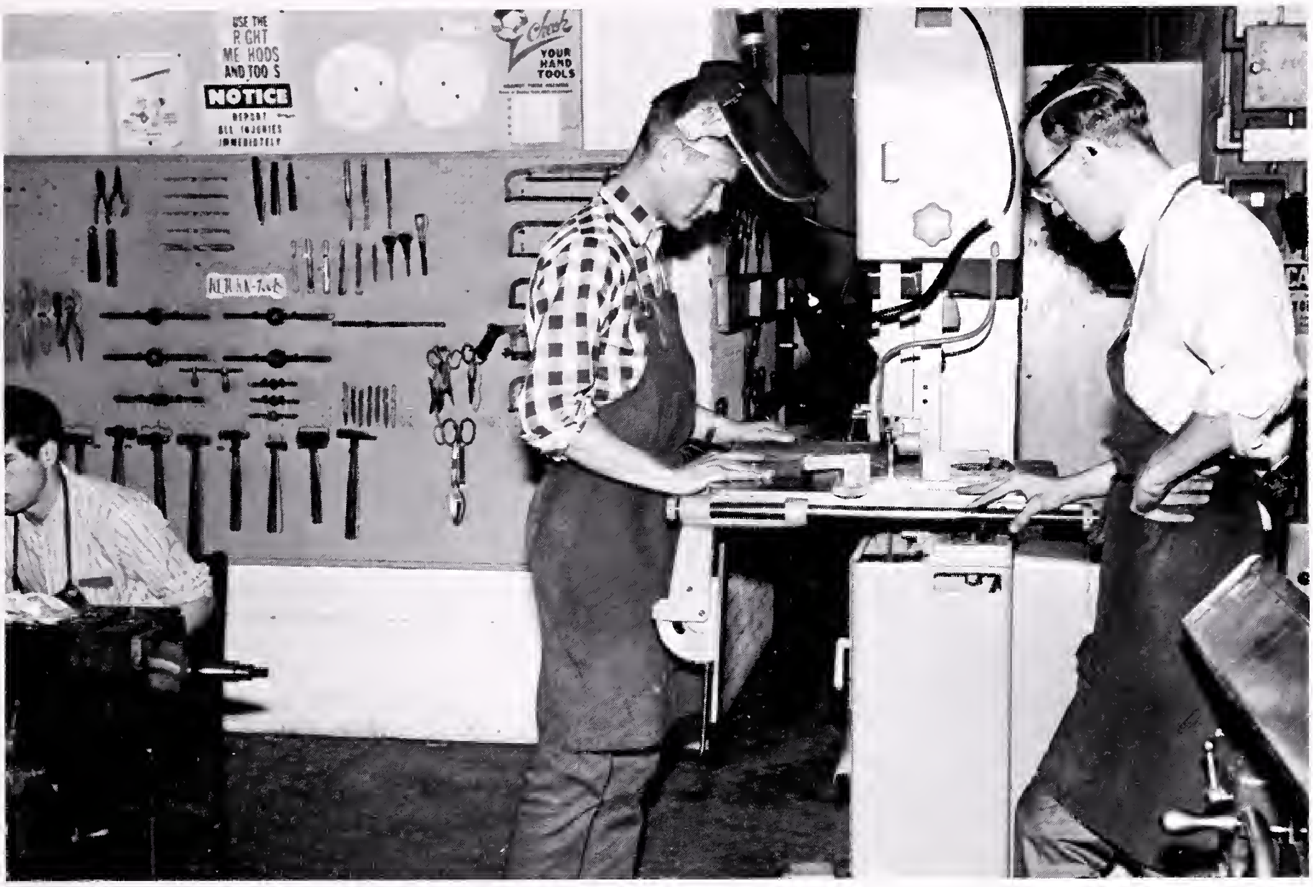
A Veritable Human Dynamo

Junior Miss candidates, Scottie Nichols and Patsy Anderson, receive valuable pointers and instructions about the contest from Mr. Zaruba.

Assisting Student Council Secretary Judy Clements in drawing up the weekly schedule of activities is only one of the many jobs which our S.C.A. advisor does in his work with the student government.

Senior Prom decorations are the topic of discussion as Senior Class President Earl Guill and Mr. Zaruba examine some possible ornaments.

Teachers Inspire Students



In the machine shop former student Hal Fisher and Billy Ledford learn the functions of the band saw, while Larry O'Berry works with the milling machine, one phase of the training received at the Vocational Building.

For Inspiration . . . Academics

The challenge of education meets the high school student. Conscientious students realize the great need for a good education if they are to be ready to face the responsibilities of the future. Unlimited opportunities and far wider horizons present themselves to the young person who has applied himself.

Meeting the needs of each student, inspiring the student to work to the best of his ability, and helping students make themselves ready for a college or profession — these are essential qualities demanded of a teacher. Presenting an interesting course and offering the student the opportunity for individual research and growth should be primary aims for each teacher. It is the task of the departments to provide programs which give the students the chance to increase their knowledge and see classroom theory in practice.

Petersburg High School offers courses which will adequately prepare the student for either college or a job. In addition to the standard curriculum, classes in advanced math and science, a special education course, and more than adequate vocational and distributive education programs are offered.

Each and every teacher, by being understanding and interested, has the opportunity to encourage students in their search for enlightenment and success. The teachers of today are challenged to prepare the citizens of tomorrow — their high school students.

New Administration Guides P.H.S.

EDWIN BETTS, JR.

EDWIN M. BETTS, JR.

University of Virginia
B. S., M.Ed.

Our new principal, Mr. Edwin Betts, was asked to comment on the opportunities in the field of education particularly at Petersburg High School.

"In this day and age," Mr. Betts pointed out, "the opportunities available in the field of education are virtually unlimited." One needs only to recognize them. As far as Petersburg High School is concerned, Mr. Betts stated that during the past five years the opportunity for a diversified education has expanded greatly. He pointed out the vocational course, advanced algebra, Biology 3, and English 9 as prime examples of this expansion. Mr. Betts also noted the significant increase in enrollment into the special education classes which are preparing the slow learners to lead a useful life.

Mr. Betts did not want to overlook the opportunity the extracurricular activities offer for expressing interests and developing one's talent. There is an activity suited to every student.

ROBERT G. CHURN

Randolph-Macon College
B. A.

For several years, Mr. Churn has been a history teacher in the Petersburg High School and has also held the position of athletic director. In June, 1966, Mr. Churn was appointed assistant principal.

Concerning his promotion to assistant principal this year, Mr. Robert Churn stated that his new position is a very challenging but most interesting one. "I am increasingly aware of the responsibilities of school administration since I have undertaken this new position."

In addition to his duties as assistant principal, Mr. Churn also retains his post as athletic director. In both capacities, his duties and responsibilities are many and demanding.

The Office, The Nucleus Of P.H.S.

The main office at Petersburg High School appears to be a scene of mass confusion but is actually a well organized operation handled very efficiently by a very competent secretarial staff. They follow a tedious daily routine which includes keeping attendance records, taking dictation, typing work orders and requisitions, and distributing mail. Sending transcripts to colleges, employers, and high schools, corresponding with the school board office, and processing schedules and report cards are among the very important undertakings of the staff.

The guidance program at Petersburg High School is concerned with helping the student decide and arrange his course of study. In planning a student's course of study, interests and abilities are carefully evaluated to insure a curriculum suited to each individual.

Cheerful secretary, Doris Curlin, assures a distraught parent that Johnny's lunch will be delivered by noon.

Mr. Alexander and secretary Miss Prichard discuss the intricacies of the teacher's register.

The new McBee sheets provide increased efficiency for senior guidance counselor Miss Bailey as she aids Fern Stillerman in course selection and schedule changes.

Business Education Combines

The Business Education Department of Petersburg High School prides itself in the preparation of the student for full time employment upon graduation. In addition to the standard Secretarial and Clerical Courses, a Secretarial-Collegiate Course has been added in recent years for college bound students.

The first three years of the Business Courses are concerned with the general curriculum, but the last two years involve the all important business subjects such as typing, bookkeeping, shorthand, and office practice, depending upon the particular course. It is in the last two years that the business student realizes his potential of efficiency in the business world.

Office Practice is most interesting in that actual office procedure is taught. Learning to operate efficiently various business machines is a major objective. Duplicating, Transcribing, and I.B.M. Key Punch are just a few types of the maze of machines found in a modern office. The Business student is fortunate in having these machines and others at his disposal for practice as part of his secretarial training.

English Students Analyze, Interpret

The Petersburg High School English Department must be considered of vital importance because it deals with the greatest problem of man: effective communication.

The English courses at Petersburg High School, through the study of grammar, aid the student in expressing his thoughts clearly and intelligently. By studying American and English literature, the student learns to analyze and interpret as well as learn from the experiences of others.

A new English course which is concerned primarily with developing reading interest has been initiated. This course deals entirely with the study of the great literature of mankind. This course is very advantageous to students who like to read; aside from reading great literature, the student also has more time in which to read.

Art And Band Develop

Great opportunity is offered to students at Petersburg High School interested in the creative arts. Under the very able guidance of Mr. Stronach, the band students, through long, hard practice, maintain the high standards of excellence which the Petersburg High School Marching Band and Concert Band have attained. The choral music class is intended to stimulate interest in the Glee Club and to teach music appreciation.

In art classes, color and design are emphasized. The beginner is exposed to the basic concepts of art. The more advanced student studies color balance, architecture, and application of the basic principles of art. Attesting the popularity of the art classes is the Art Club, one of the more popular school organizations. The Art Club performs a great service to the school as it provides posters, scenery, and decorations for various school functions.

Strains of beautiful music can be heard as band leader, Mr. Stronach, directs the woodwind section of his class.

Physical Education

The courses taught in the Physical Education Department at Petersburg High School are designed to promote the general welfare of the individual. Physical Education, Driver Education, First Aid, and Health all pertain directly to the physical and mental well being of the student.

Physical Education, while promoting physical fitness, gives the student a chance to learn and gain skill in such games as football, soccer, table tennis, and tumbling. Health is fundamentally concerned with teaching prevention of disease and good health habits.

Driver Education and First Aid are probably the most important courses in this department because their knowledge can be the difference between life and death. Knowledge of driving rules and skills is taught in the class room. In addition, behind-the-wheel training is offered to a limited number of students during the summer vacation. (This part of the program is the most beneficial because experience is the best teacher.) The knowledge of First Aid saves lives and lessens the danger of permanent injury, and its importance cannot be overly stressed.

A Modern World Creates A Greater

As faster means of communication and transportation are being developed daily, foreign languages are becoming more and more important. The day is fast approaching when direct communication between all peoples of the world will be of the utmost importance.

Petersburg High School offers three foreign languages to its students: French, Spanish and Latin. A three year course is offered in each language providing laboratory work and various teaching methods which generally keep student interest high.

The work in the laboratory is perhaps the most enriching experience in taking a foreign language. There are very few students (if any) who do not feel some kind of emotion when "Lab Class" is announced. Seriously though, the lab does provide the student with an excellent opportunity to hear a language spoken by the native people, and it provides the needed variation to the curriculum.

Math Dept. Keeps Pace

The Mathematics Department at Petersburg High School is one of the more progressive and rapidly changing departments. Changes are made to keep pace with the increasing college pressure for adequate preparation in mathematics.

The latest change in the mathematics curriculum has been in the geometry. The plane geometry has been changed to Geometry which includes the elements of plane geometry, solid geometry, and coordinate geometry. This change was deemed necessary in order to provide students with the opportunity to take other pre-college courses for a better college preparation. This is in line with the recommendations of the College Entrance Examining Board, and provides a fine supplement to the existing advanced algebra and analytic and solid geometry courses now in the curriculum.

For the student whose course does not require higher mathematics, Petersburg High School offers general arithmetic which provides the student a good practical knowledge of applied mathematics. Certain basic elements of algebra and geometry are included in the noncollege program.

Preparing computer program cards was only one phase of the Cooperative College School Science Program which Seniors Linda Laity and Jimmie Basl attended last summer. The seven weeks' mathematics course sponsored by Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the National Science Foundation was held at Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond.

Science Stirs The

The science program of Petersburg High is changing rapidly to meet the ever increasing and varied demands of the space age. Under the supervision of well qualified instructors, the department is providing excellent training for the scientifically inclined.

On the eighth grade level semesters of biology and chemistry are offered providing a good foundation for later study. Earth and Space Science is now being offered on the ninth grade level in addition to an introduction into physics. On the tenth and eleventh grade level, the student's ability to reason and think originally is tested as great emphasis is placed on laboratory work. A very unique physics course is offered on the twelfth grade level. Strictly discovery material is offered, and there is no set pattern of study.

An advanced biology course has been offered to interested students this year. For the first time, a team of teachers has undertaken the task of instruction. A third semester of chemistry was initiated this spring for students with special interest.

To coordinate more effectively the science courses, a new program has been initiated whereby Mr. Sublett is assisting other science teachers during three periods a day.

Appreciation Of History

You often hear someone say, "Why should we study history? Nothing can be done about the past, and what does the past have to do with the present?"

Surely nothing can be done about the past, but history does affect the present. There is some truth in the old saying, "History repeats itself." How man learns from the mistakes he has made in the past will determine the fate of the world.

History and government are required subjects at Petersburg High School. All students take two years of history consisting of World and United States History. All seniors study the government of the United States from colonial times to the present.

History and government are invaluable courses because they train the youth of today to be responsible and active citizens in the world of tomorrow. The study of history and government cannot be overemphasized.

Practical Skills Learned

Industrial Arts and Mechanical Drawing are among the most desired courses at Petersburg High School for one very good reason. Knowledge is gained through actual trial experience which is a welcome change from the lecture type courses. Students may take one or two years of Mechanical Drawing. In the first year, the student works with the basic types of drawings. In the second year, more complex and varied drawings are taught.

The Industrial Arts course is divided into two major divisions, metal shop and wood shop. A student specializes in a particular area of one of these two divisions. Each individual student selects a project to complete during the year. Under excellent direction of a shop instructor, these projects are usually very successful.

Home Economics is a popular course owing to the fact that most girls get married. To aid in developing a better home and community life is the main objective of this course. Personality development, interior decorating, and the importance of nutrition are just a few aspects of homemaking offered in this well diversified course. During the year, a girl gains practical experience in cooking, sewing, and caring for small children.

Voc. Dept. Helps Fill Need For

An ever increasingly complex technological society has greatly increased the need for technically skilled workers. Supplying this demand is the main objective of the Petersburg High School Pre-Technical Vocational Educational Program.

The Petersburg High School Vocational Program is under the fine direction of Mr. I. B. Pittman. His time-consuming job involves keeping the program up-to-date and securing the very excellent and detailed machinery.

A vocational student may choose from any of seven courses in the Vocational Program: Drafting and Design, Electronics, General Mechanics, Instrumentation, Machinist, Medical Assistant, or Practical Nursing. For students who are interested in the Co-op Training Program, Distributive Education and Industrial Cooperative Training are offered. All of the courses, with the exception of Instrumentation, involve two years of study. While some of these courses may be classified as college preparatory, all are designed to provide the student who is not college bound with the needed technological skill to secure a good job with excellent opportunity for advancement.

People Behind The Scenes

Petersburg High School is very fortunate in having a very fine maintenance staff. These are the people who do the "dirty work", which we, the student body, very often take for granted.

The cafeteria staff functions under the direction of Mrs. Moore, our dietician. Her staff is responsible for preparing and serving the meals which she plans. Perhaps the most important duty of this staff is to maintain cleanliness in the cafeteria. Through the efforts of this staff, we are able to enjoy wholesome meals in a healthy atmosphere.

The maintenance staff is seldom given recognition for their labor. These people work behind the scenes to keep our building clean and comfortable. Keeping a building as old as Petersburg High School in good repair is not an easy task, and these persons are to be commended for their fine work.

Immaculate Lenora, a member of our capable janitorial staff, polishes one of our many water fountains.

Enthusiasm—Center Of School Life

Supported by the Pep Band and led by the cheerleaders, the students filled the gym with shouts for victory over Lee-Davis. Enthusiasm and spirit characterized the Senior Pep Rally, and this same enthusiasm and spirit was carried over into the game as the team rolled to an undefeated season and undisputed possession of the Central District Football Championship.

For Enthusiasm . . . . Student Life

The beat of the drum as the band approaches the football field, the deafening roar which fills the gym at a pep rally, the hours spent on a school production—these are only a few of the things which typify school life. Studying for a test that will have a great effect on his grade, winning a district crown in sports, adjusting quickly to a radical change, or making friends that he'll never forget are essential parts of every student's high school growth. Such experiences help to supplement and make more meaningful the knowledge gained from teachers and classes.

Student life is the source of unusual happenings, happy memories, and candid observations; and at its center lies the enthusiasm of the entire student body. Companionship and the good times which school life provide stimulate students to support activities. They in turn develop a strong spirit of enthusiasm and loyalty for their school as well as a sense of pride in the things they accomplish through and for it. Student life is surely at the heart of the days which are spent in preparing for the future, and these experiences are just as vital as classes in readying the student to pursue his aims.

Students Begin School Year

On the opening day of school, students welcome the chance to meet and exchange news of their summer vacations.

The chemistry lab is a class extension which broadens a student's outlook; in the lab he does what he has heretofore only read about.

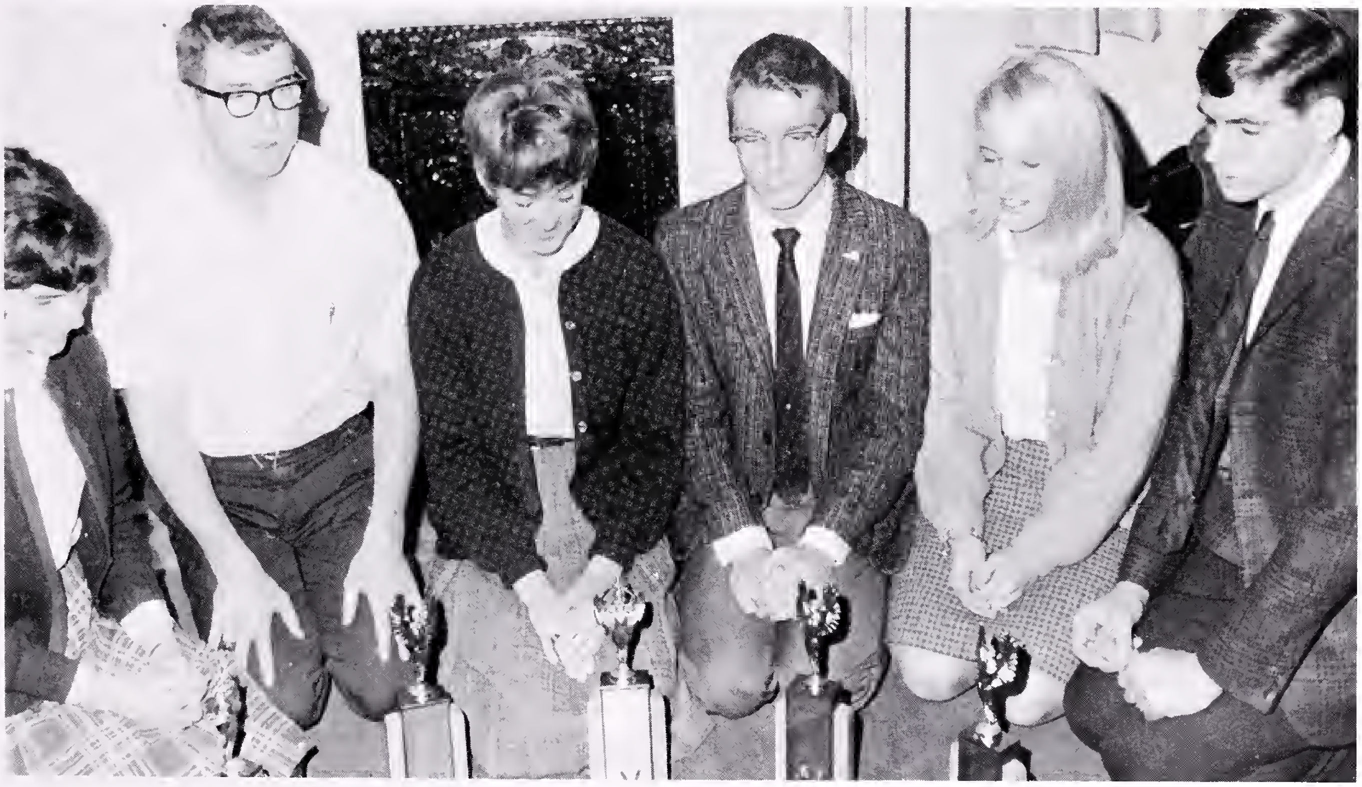
Junior Janet Small finds the telephone handy for calling her parents to ask them to bring numerous items which were overlooked in the hustle and bustle of opening week.

Veteran English teacher Miss Evans gives valuable bits of advice to Jimbo VanLandingham and Bonnie Burch as they do research work for their term papers in the library.

With Hopeful Anticipation

Jane Holley distributes ballots for Who's Who while seniors ponder over whom they should elect.

Posing for Missile pictures is but one sign that the school year progresses.



Linda Laity, Larry McCoy, Laura Wheeler, Mark Poland, Alyce Musgrove, and Rudy Hawkins were chosen as our most outstanding seniors by the Optimist Club. The trophies given to them represent achievements in various phases of high school life.

P.H.S. Spirit Rises To

Head cheerleader Laura Wheeler innovates a new symbol of school spirit, the Spirit Stick, at the opening pep rally for the Benedictine game.

Col. Lloyd waves the Spirit Stick, a signal for the student body to raise their voices in a victory cheer.

Junior lineman Richard Earl receives instructions and inspiration from Coach Porach as Danny Wilkerson prepares to go onto the field.

Unprecedented Heights

The devastating auditorium fire on September 26 completely destroyed the stage and rendered the piano utterly useless.

Assistant Principal Bobby Churn douses the fire with gasoline as students await anxiously the destruction of the Colonial Heights dummy.

As the flames of this bonfire soar higher into the sky, so the spirit of P.H.S. soars to its highest peak.

Wave Fights Amid Strong Support

Elated Crimson Wave football players hoisted Coach Tyler to their shoulders and carried him off the field after the victory over Lee-Davis which clinched the Wave's place as Central District Champions.

Seniors voice shouts of acclamation for the gridiron coaches as Head Coach Tyler prepares to deliver a short speech at the final football pep rally of the 1966 season.

The Year Continues . . .

The combined efforts of many skilled workmen were necessary for the renovation of our auditorium.

Workmen give the P.H.S. halls new tile ceilings in response to the seniors' plea of "Lower heaven for '67!"

As workmen continue remodeling the school, activities continue with the crowning of the new 1966-'67 Key Club Sweetheart, Miss Jennie Belle Powell. Presenting her a bouquet of red roses is last year's sweetheart, Miss Becky Goodwyn.

Requirements for the Junior Miss Contest included physical fitness competition, here performed by Alyce Musgrove, Earlene Grammer, and Judy Clements.

As Iris Howell learns that she has been chosen Junior Miss, the other contestants crowd around to congratulate her.

Newly-crowned Iris Howell, Petersburg's first Junior Miss, sheds tears of joy as she receives her bouquet of red roses from Miss Petersburg, Jane Holley.

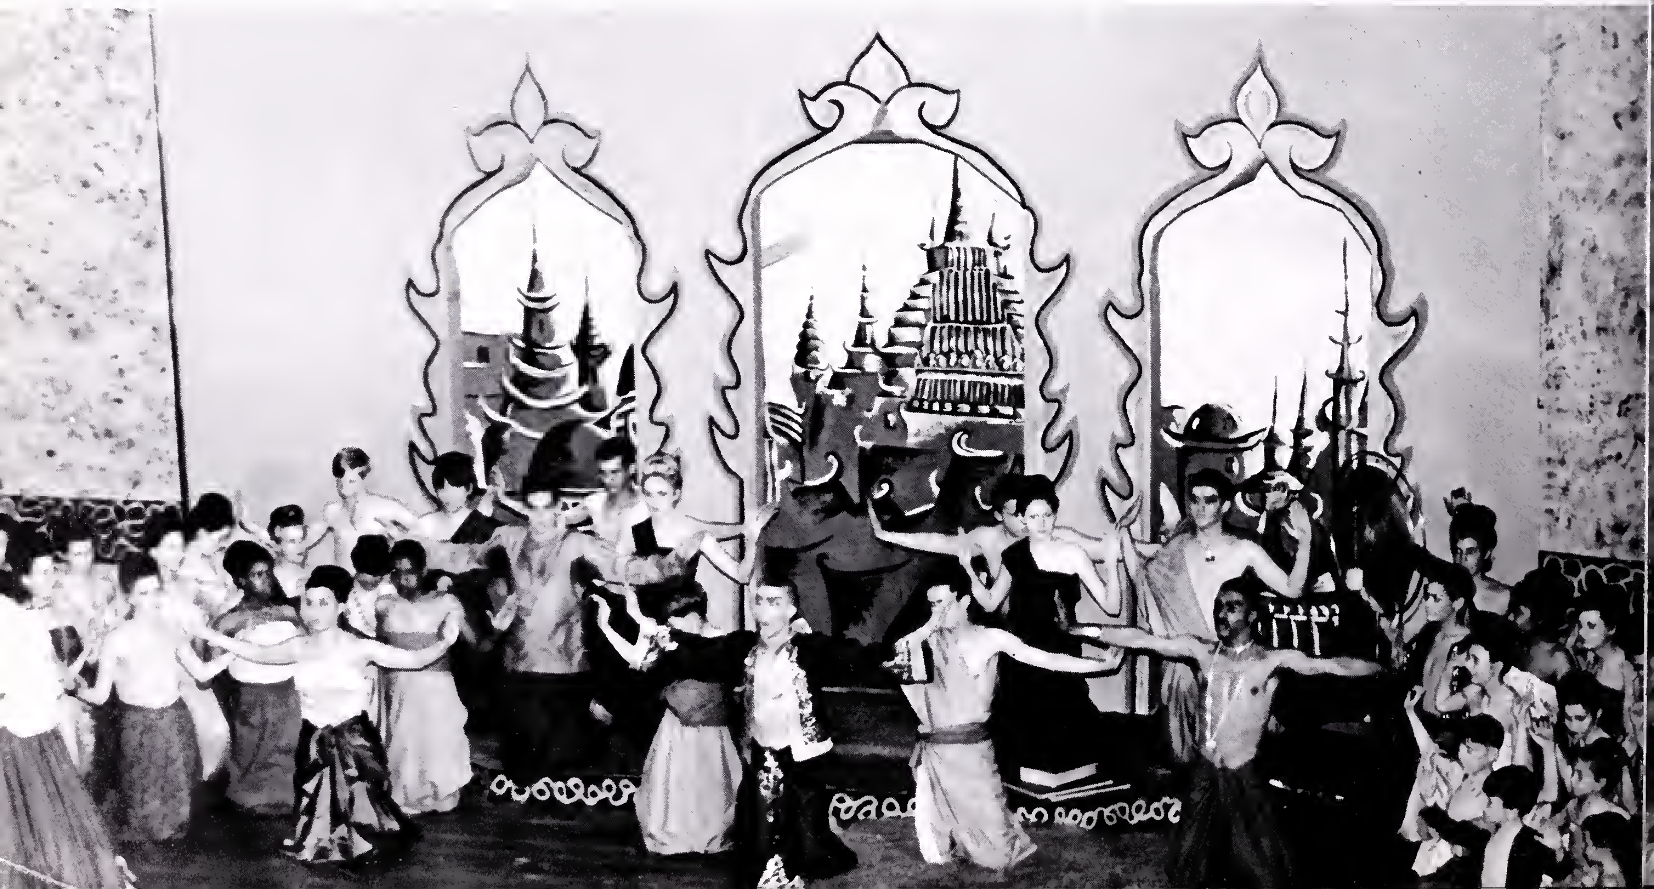
Precision, Fine Acting Mak

Make-up for Ashby Watson's leading role in "The King and I" is applied by Laura Zachman.

Before the curtain rises, the director of the play, Mrs. Grace Edwards, enthusiastically lends her help to prepare Donna Taylor for her role as Tuptim.

A dramatic closing to a scene is created by Anna, the King, and his subjects. This production was the first in what is hoped to be a long succession of plays presented solely by the students of this school.



"King And I" Smash Hit

Christa Howard, Alyce Musgrove, Phyllis Sheintoch, and Scottie Nichols add improving touches to the oriental scenery of the "King and I," the school's musical success.

"To prove we're not barbarians, they dress us up like savages . . . Western people funny . . . " sang Fern Stillerman in her portrayal of Lady Thiang in the Inter-Club Council production.

"If you stick your finger in my eye one more time . . . " admonishes Karen Martinko, student choreographer, to Barbara Daub who utilizes grease paint and mascara in creating a glistering effect.

Music director Ralph Stronach lifts his baton, and the clash of the cymbals begins the musical production of the "King and I."

Seniors Prepare For Graduation

Graduation, the most significant event of the year for seniors, calls for many decisions. Seniors, Linda Laity and Chick Kay, make one choice by ordering calling cards and announcements from Miss Moyer, the teacher in charge of the arrangements.

Full of smiles and happy thoughts, Bryant Palmore and Lois Wells try on their caps and gowns one last time before graduation.

S.C.A. president Larry McCoy finds time in his busy schedule to be measured for his graduation cap and gown by Mr. Deck.

"King And I" Deemed Success

The cast of the memorable production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I" depicts a tense moment in the play. This major accomplishment by the Inter-Club Council featured Mark Poland as the King and Ashby Watson as Anna.

For Service........Activities

Promoting school spirit, gathering food and clothing for those less fortunate, and participating in fund-raising drives — these are only a few of the projects familiar to members of the varied organizations at Petersburg High School. Extracurricular organizations give members the opportunity for friendship and fun, but they also teach better group cooperation and unselfish service to others. Clubs that support both school and community projects train their members to become active in public affairs and give them the opportunity to accept the responsibilities and rewards of working as a group.

Whether they are journalistic, honorary, social, or service organizations, each does its part toward making school and community a better place. Every student has been given the opportunity to join some club, and in return for his time and efforts, he receives personal satisfaction. In a spirit of participation and service, Petersburg High's activities and organizations offer constructive diversions from the everyday routine of the classroom.

The experience and enjoyment reaped by the student from active service in these organizations help make him a well-rounded individual and a greater asset to his school and community. Through the medium of a club, each student can express himself and make his contribution toward a better school life.

INTER-CLUB COUNCIL

For the past eight years, the Inter-Club Council has been in existence at P.H.S. It arose from a need for coordination among the diversified activities of the numerous school clubs.

Serving its purpose well, its accomplishments have been great. It has increased club memberships and has done much for the prestige of club activities.

Among the projects for this year were the sponsoring of a play in the spring, selling flowers at the Fall Festival football game, and working with the senior class in sponsoring contestants for the Junior Miss Pageant.

These senior girls, representatives of the various clubs which comprise the Inter-Club Council, all vied for the title of Junior Miss, the Senior Class- and Jaycee-sponsored pageant.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

In the spring semester of each year a select group of juniors and seniors are inducted into the Petersburg High School Chapter of the National Honor Society. Students are chosen by a committee of faculty members.

Leadership, scholarship, and service are some of the required qualifications for membership. Above all a student must have an overall average of 93 and good character.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Mildred Irvine, this organization renders services to the school throughout the year. Ushering at meetings and conferences and helping with the administration of testing programs are only a few of their activities.

Symbolizing the search for knowledge, National Honor Society Seniors carry torches in the Fall Festival Parade that preceded the Prince George game.

MISSILE

There is never a dull moment, and the unexpected always happens in the Missile Room of P.H.S.

The Editorial Staff, under the direction of Miss Frances Evans, and Circulation and Advertising Staffs sponsored by Mr. B. F. Alexander, strive to provide the student body with a memorable annual.

The Missile has undergone several changes for this year. The academic and school life sections are new features for 1967. The class sections are arranged differently with special candid pictures for each grade.

The Missile is the product of many diligent students of varied interests whose aim is to provide a yearbook which represents all aspects of school life. This opportunity to further one's literary education is strictly on a voluntary basis. The individual must, however, possess willingness, vigor, and dedication to his job.

As in the past, the Missile is judged by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association and has always ranked high in achieving its goals.

REVIEW

"Let the paper go to press!" Proof readers, typists, reporters, page editors, and photographers work diligently in order to compile a publication which will enlighten, inform and entertain the students of P.H.S.

Anyone who is interested in the field of journalism and anticipates a probable future relating to this field should strive to become a member of the conscientious Review staff.

Much work is associated with this job, and a student must be willing and able to give his valuable time and ideas to the creation of this publication.

This year all students have had the benefit of receiving our school newspaper because of a slight increase in the activities' fee required from all students. Eleven issues of the six page Review are distributed to all homerooms.

Other members of the Review Staff are: (Front Column) B. Cronk, C. Santago, K. Comer. (Second Column) S. Booth, K. Myers, D. Ford, B. Elmore. (Last Column) J. Aden, B. McCann, P. Sheintoch, P. Alexander, B. Cozzens.

QUILL AND SCROLL — FORENSICS

Outstanding work in some phase of school publications, such as writing, editing, business management, or production, is the main qualification for membership in the Quill and Scroll. Candidates must also be juniors or seniors in the upper third of their class. Membership is limited to fifteen new members; five designated by the sponsors of each publication and five chosen by the Quill and Scroll.

The main project of the club is a book-review tea which is held each spring for members and their parents.

An organization for those who wish to better their speaking skills through competitive activities is the Forensics Team. Anyone may participate in local competition, but only a few are selected for inter-scholastic meets, which are held on the District and State levels.

Members of the Quill and Scroll are: (Front Row) K. Myers, B. Moore, J. Basl, C. Santago, B. Cronk. (Last Row) R. Akers, Mrs. Owens, M. Long, L. Laity, S. Van Wagoner, P. Anderson, S. Roper.

MONITORS

"You're using the wrong staircase!" is a common expression at P.H.S. Keeping the flow of student traffic under control in our congested corridors is quite a task. The Monitors Club is responsible for this undertaking. The Club consists of twenty-three boys under the sponsorship of Mr. James Jean. Besides policing the halls, they direct students to their proper seats at assemblies.

Boys are chosen on the basis of grades and attitude and must have the approval of Mr. Betts, our principal.

PROJECTION CREW

Each student at P.H.S. has benefited from the services of the competent members of the Projection Crew, for only through their willing help can films and recordings be used in the classrooms. Members of the group are always available to assist the faculty.

Although membership is on a voluntary basis, one must complete a training course on the use of the projector before entering this service organization. This organization, under the capable supervision of Mrs. Douthat, provides additional interesting material for the classes.

LIBRARY STAFF

The services that keep the school library books arranged in order are rendered by our competent library staff headed by Mrs. Rhea Dodge. Members of this group work before and after school hours and during study halls. These ambitious students volunteer their time and labor to keep our library operating smoothly and efficiently.

This staff assists the librarian in stamping passes, checking out books, keeping the shelves in order, and taking inventory twice a year. The members are also instrumental in assisting pupils obtain requested material. This group proves to be a great asset to our school.

MONOGRAM CLUB

"It's not whether you win or lose but how you play the game." This old familiar saying points out the fact that good sportsmanship is essential in every game. The Monogram Club, sponsored by Miss Jo Ann Kiser, uses this as one of its main objectives. It also encourages attendance at games and boosts participation in girls' sports.

The hard-working members sell soft drinks at home basketball games and undertake the task of polishing the school's trophies annually. This club strives to serve the school and community by being responsible each year for the Christmas baskets for needy families.

The Monogram Club is open for membership to any girl who has lettered in either basketball or softball. Annual participation in either of these sports is necessary for membership retension.

VARSITY CLUB

To bring boys together who have a common interest in sports and to promote good sportsmanship are the aims of the Varsity Club.

All boys who have earned one varsity letter in any sport, with the exception of golf in which two letters are required, are eligible for membership.

With the numerous practices and games in which these boys participate, they manage to find time for delivering Christmas baskets and raising the money needed for their annual banquet.

The club annually takes over a local service station for a day and in this way obtains all funds for maintaining the club.

KEY CLUB

To develop initiative, leadership, and citizenship are the main objectives of the Key Club which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Petersburg. The members, who are selected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, are boys who render service to both the school and community, and show high moral character.

Delivering United Fund Pledge cards, selling Christmas trees with Circle K Club of Richard Bland College, working in salvation army booths, and parking cars at Teachers meetings are only a few of the tremendous responsibilities they undertake each year.

During the fall the boys choose a sweetheart from the junior class to represent them. She is chosen by the entire club on the basis of character, looks, personality, and the ability of representing them well.

New members are nominated by the club and are approved by the principal and a selected faculty committee.

The 1966-1967 Key Club Sweetheart is Jennie Belle Powell.

GOLD BLAZERS

Throughout the halls of P.H.S., the spirit of the Gold Blazers sparkles. They accomplish this by participating in pep rallies, by helping teach new songs and yells to the student body, and by encouraging attendance and participation in all school activities.

During the school year, they make victory signs and display them throughout the school. They serve as ushers on College Night and Parents' Day. The Gold Blazers also decorate the goal posts at Cameron Field during the football season and annually hold a banquet for their seniors.

The membership is composed of representatives from each eighth grade homeroom, finalists and semi-finalists in both cheerleading and majorette competition, and certain elected upperclassmen.

Through the efforts of these enthusiastic and spirited girls, the student body has an opportunity to enjoy many rewarding and unforgettable events.

Social Clubs Promote Friendship

SOCIAL CLUBS

Members of the three social clubs are well-known around school by their friendship, continual service, and school spirit. Membership is obtained by individual invitations approved by the members.

To promote sportsmanship and a high sense of honor among students of P.H.S. is the main objective of the Odd Girls Club. Presenting a picture to the school and visiting the city home at Christmas are among their annual projects. The number of active members should be an odd number between 27 and 31.

The Goober Pep project, also performed annually, is to present the Mary T. Perkins Latin Award to the third or fourth year Latin student with the highest average. Its main desire is to be of service to the students and faculty.

Several entertaining activities are sponsored by the Square Circle during the school year. Among these are a Silver Tea in December and a fashion show in early Spring. The members also act as hostess at Teachers' Club meetings and sponsor a social for the other service organizations.

HI-Y AND TRI-HI-Y'S

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian living" is the motto of these three Hi-Y clubs. Each member strives to better himself and to help others.

Various activities are undertaken to help the community or raise funds. Members of these clubs helped man the Salvation Army booths at Christmas. Pence Tri-Hi-Y wrapped presents for Central State Hospital and sold fruit cakes at Yuletide. K-Warner Tri-Hi-Y sponsors a car wash annually. Cockade Hi-Y sells soft drinks at home baseball games as a money-making project. Representatives from each of these organizations are sent to the Model General Assembly.

Meetings are held every Monday night at the Y.M.C.A. Anyone in the student body wishing to join may do so if he is willing to uphold the high principles of the organizations and support his club with dedication.

Distributive Education is the study of the marketing functions from the time a product leaves the producer until it reaches the consumer. The course of study includes advertising, stockkeeping, salesmanship, personnel store layout and many other marketing functions. D.E. club members participate in District, State, and National contests in these different areas of study.

Many opportunities are open for the students in the D.E. program. They work under a store manager from fifteen to twenty-five hours a week getting on-the-job training.

The purpose of the D.E. Club is to develop social intelligence, vocational understanding, civic conscientiousness, and leadership ability.

This year the members of the club are assisting in manning the tourist information center for the Chamber of Commerce. Membership is open to anyone in the D.E. program.

ART CLUB

"A picture is a poem without words." This definition of a picture could very well be the purpose of the Art Club—to create on canvas ideas that will inspire all who view it. The club labors earnestly to stimulate an interest throughout the school in art.

This is a service organization working for the school in all possible ways. Numerous posters are made by the members announcing various school activities. The group also prepares decorations for concerts and makes special favors for the teachers on holidays. In the production of "The King and I," the Art Club was responsible for the scenery.

Students in grades nine through twelve are eligible for membership. One must pass a test prepared to measure artistic ability before entering the club. These tests are graded by a committee of teachers including the sponsor of the club, Mrs. Lou Musgrove.

A musical production, Spring and Christmas concerts, and a special Christmas program at Fort Lee are included among this year's projects. All of these projects are enjoyed by the entire student body and community alike.

The Girls' Ensemble, selected from the Glee Club for their tone and blending ability, performs at various churches, clubs, and other functions throughout the year. Another branch of the Glee Club is the Pro Musica Ensemble, which performs early Renaissance to Contemporary music.

MAJORETTES

With their plumed hats and swirling batons, the majorettes accompany the band to numerous football games throughout the fall season, adding spice to the band's music.

They are probably the biggest boost to the stimulation of school spirit in students of Petersburg High. Their skillful routines continue to hold the interest and admiration of all those who watch them.

The squad consists of eight regular majorettes and four alternates. New members are chosen in May by the officers of the band and current majorettes. Selections are based on the girls' performing ability, personality, and charm. The head majorette is then chosen by competitive tryouts.

The performances of the majorettes, accompanied by the band, supply the entertainment for half-time at the football games.

Vigorous Support Given Teams

Athletic Director Bobby Churn presents former Petersburg High School principal, Russell B. Gill, with a plaque on behalf of the coaching staff as Head Football Coach Bobby Tyler looks on. The award was given in appreciation of Mr. Gill's enthusiastic support for the athletic teams of P.H.S.

For Participation........Sports

A good sports program demands determination, cooperation, and hard work, but at the same time it builds strong bodies, school enthusiasm, and a hearty spirit of competition. In a spirit of great perserverance, its participants develop character and good sportsmanship. Every athlete learns one lesson above all others — he must do his best to gain a victory of which he can be proud, but he must also realize that there is pride in losing if he has done his best. Defeat is as great a teacher as victory, and in defeat the participant is given an opportunity to face on a smaller scale the type of disappointments which he will meet in life. The young person who can meet defeat with confidence and composure is better prepared for the world he will face in the future.

Petersburg High School has a sports program of which we can be proud, both from the standpoint of record and conduct. Our athletic teams strive diligently, adhering at all times to a code of good sportsmanship.

Interscholastic sports provide opportunities for the student to attain athletic skill, self-determination and discipline, teamwork, and a strong sense of fair play. Sports help to develop the high school student into a sound citizen capable of meeting the challenge of tomorrow.

A bright spot during the Crimson Wave baseball season was the appearance of Junior moundsman Tom Hodnett.

BASEBALL

Lack of depth in the pitching staff and fielding errors during crucial game situations led the 1966 Crimson Wave Baseball Team to a sub-.500 finish. The '66 team did, however, produce one of the finest hitting attacks to be found anywhere in the Central District.

The Wave sluggers were led by All-Central District first baseman Larry Toombs, who batted a cool .333 with 4 home runs and 18 RBI's. Rounding out the Big Red's crop of fine hitters were Rudy Hawkins (.333 BA, 8 RBI's), and Jimmy Shannon, who slammed four round-trippers with 17 RBI's while posting a respectable .285 batting average.

Junior Tommy Hodnett surprised many by recording a mark of 3 wins and 1 loss on a pitching staff which lacked depth. Another player worthy of mention is second baseman Mike Moody, who performed admirably afield and also produced some clutch hits.

To graduation the Crimson Wave loses pitchers Mac McAlea, P. C. Spencer and Bernard Wray, outfielder Heydon Lewis along with Shannon, Toombs, and Moody. Returning to form a sound nucleus for the '67 campaign will be shortstops Buddy Ferguson and Earl Guill; third baseman Bruce Honeycutt; outfielders David Parrish and Lee Roy Heath; catchers Rudy Hawkins and Bobby Elmore; and hurler Tom Hodnett.

TRACK

Although some new talent has been discovered, the future of track at P. H. S. looks quite discouraging. The 1966 team had a single victory over Manchester against seven defeats. As has been true for the past three seasons, the team has come up lacking in depth, but those who have showed up have turned in very admirable performances.

Bookie Barksdale and Howard Brown along with Bob Walker, often jumped off to an early lead with their fine performances in the shot put and discus. Captain John Beasley, who performed well in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, also set a school record of 52.6 seconds in the 440. The most versatile cinderman on the '66 team was Charles Bach, who performed in the high, broad, and triple jumps, the low and high hurdles, and, on occasion, the pole vault.

Other boys who showed definite improvement were: Rick Spach in the 100 and 220; Herman Williams in the low hurdles, broad jump, and triple jump; and Alvin Haynes, who set the school record in the two-mile with a time of 10:35.4 seconds.

A most interesting story on the team was the case of young Roland Parsons, an eighth grader who couldn't accept his points in the mile and two-mile because it would ruin his eligibility. What P. H. S. needs is a few more boys like Roland who have an interest in the future of track at P. H. S.

FOOTBALL

After an amazing unbeaten, untied campaign of 10 contests, the 1966 Crimson Wave football team captured the Central District Championship. The Wave's undefeated season caused them to be ranked fourth statewide.

After the Wave had beaten Benedictine and Manchester by "close" scores of 26-20 and 20-13 respectively, the Big Red proved themselves again in the third game when they defeated a strong Meadowbrook team by a 21-19 margin. On the following weekend the Wave met fairly weak opposition in the form of Patrick Henry and smeared them 36-6.

School spirit rose to unprecedented heights for the Colonial Heights encounter. Bringing victory back to the "right" side of the Appomattox, Petersburg routed the Colonials by a 25-0 score.

Homecoming proved a huge success as the mighty Wave again rolled to a 26-6 triumph over Prince George.

The Wave removed all doubts of its greatness when it dumped a tough Thomas Dale eleven 21-7 in a hard-nosed contest. In the next two outings the team trounced Hopewell (48-13) and Huguenot (33-0) to run their record to 9 and 0.

In a fitting climax to a truly great season, the Crimson Wave defeated the Lee-Davis Confederates to claim undisputed possession of the Central District Championship.

Quarterback David Parrish (11) sneaks over for Wave tally as center Vincent Hardy and guard Charles Barksdale eliminate Benedictine opponent in 26-20 triumph.

The player scoring at the right certainly needs no introduction. His name is Ronnie Erb. During the 1966 season he rushed for over a mile of yardage by compiling a total of 1,772 yards on 219 carries for an average of 8.1 yards per carry. By scoring 23 touchdowns (6 TD's against Hopewell), he bettered Earl Hawkins's old school record of 136 points scored in a season set back in 1960. For his invaluable worth to the Crimson Wave, Ronnie earned recognition on the state Group 1-A team. It is true that Ronnie Erb is an outstanding halfback, but without the great blocking of the Wave line he could not have begun to accomplish these feats.

The mighty Wave line is shown at the peak of its charge as quarterback Parrish prepares to hand-off to halfback Erb during 25-0 shellacking of Colonial Heights.

Known to his teammates as "The Duke," senior halfback Rudy Hawkins barrels over Thomas Dale defenders for a touchdown in decisive 21-7 victory.

Head Coach Bobby Tyler sends quarterback Parrish back to action after offering his words of wisdom.

Defensive tackle Larry Toombs tells member of Petersburg Emergency Crew of cramped leg muscle sustained in Lee-Davis contest.

"Never Will We Be Defeated!"

Portrayed in one of their more serious moods, the team prays for spiritual guidance prior to the Hopewell game.

Halfback Erb threads his way through white-jerseyed Manchester defenders in "close" 20-13 turnback of Lancers.

Known more for his bruising inside running, All-Central District fullback David "Turkey" DiRienzio shows he can turn on the open-field speed as Charles Barksdale, a second team, All-State selection, pulls to block. Action occurred versus Lee-Davis.

Rudy Hawkins bolts his way through gaping hole in Patriot line as Dave Parrish sets his sights on defensive man.

Caught here in a most significant photograph, Ronnie Erb is shown establishing a new school record of 23 touchdowns. Thwarting the attempts of Confederate defender is Rudy Hawkins.

David Parrish gets ready to block Huguenot adversary as the "Erb Tide" prepares to drown Falcons.

Captains, Charles Barksdale, Rudy Hawkins, and Vernon Honeycutt, admire the team's reward for becoming 1966 Champions of the Central District.

"Who's going to win tonight?"

"We are!"

What would our school be like without this group of lively girls leading us? Forever vigorous and on the go, they instill spirit and life into the hearts of all PHS'ers. Providing us with active pep rallies, cheering loudly at games, and colorfully decorating our school are some of their many activities.

Competitive tryouts are held each spring and contestants are judged on the basis of personality and appearance in addition to scholastic ability.

CENTRAL DISTRICT Champs

Varsity Cheerleaders are in high spirits as they ride merrily through town in the Christmas parade.

J.V. Cheerleaders Radiate Spirit

"We've got the boys on our team, they're gr . . . gr . . . great!" Promoting school spirit and stimulating Junior Varsity teams to victory are the two main objectives of the J.V. Cheerleaders. Only the most talented and lively girls out of numerous freshman and sophomore contestants are chosen to accomplish this aim.

After preliminary practice with the help of a varsity cheerleader, J.V. cheerleaders are picked by a committee of six teachers.

Throughout the year this squad of eleven girls cheers enthusiastically at all J.V. football and basketball games. They also work with the Varsity cheerleaders in devising and undertaking new and clever ideas for pep rallies.

The spirit of the J.V. cheerleaders is reflected in their enthusiastic clapping at the first Crimson Wave basketball game.

Underclassmen Strive For Success

For Friendship . . . Classes

The years spent as underclassmen in Petersburg High School are some of the most important in a student's life. During this time he prepares himself for the time when he must fully face the tomorrow's challenge. Choosing the correct courses, consulting guidance counselors, and taking college boards and the National Merit Exam are the first essential steps to future success.

As a student goes from class to class, he comes in contact with many people. Through them he sees a mixture of personalities and ideals. From them he learns respect, tolerance, and patience but above all understanding. In the face of their support and reassurance, he shares his thoughts, ideas, hopes, and dreams and sees them become realities.

For juniors the Ring Dance is the climax of their year, while sophomores see their weeks of hard work realized in the Fall Festival Dance. Freshmen and eighth graders adjust themselves to their new surroundings and prepare for the day when they will assume bigger tasks.

In whatever way the student works with his classmates, he is benefiting both himself and his school, and through constant association with people he becomes a more successful member of his community.

Seniors, Linda Laity and Mac Jones, discuss college entrance requirements with Senior Guidance Counselor Mary Bailey. Making college application is only one of the decisions which most seniors are faced with in preparing for their futures.

SENIORS

The long awaited Senior year has arrived and for the Class of 1967, the years spent in preparation are rapidly drawing to a close which will be Moments of joy, anxiety, disappointment, despair, met with a wide variety of feelings and memories. achievement, and reward pass before each senior's eyes as he looks back on his high school career.

More important he looks ahead and realizes that bigger and better moments await him in the future. He now begins to appreciate the many opportunities that a high school education offers to the student.

As each senior graduates, he is taking the last step before he must fully meet the challenge for which he has prepared. His chances for success lie ahead of him, and his high school preparation is the key to that success.

Community Supports Annual

For Community Support……Advertisements

Our annual is successful because of community support, and through advertisements the sponsors have an opportunity to show their interest in the youth of today.

The Missile staff takes this opportunity to salute the many merchants and civic organizations of Petersburg who advertise with us. To find our city supporting us in our endeavor is indeed inspiring.

Ad Manager Rad Akers makes sure that Donna Farrell types everything correctly on the layout sheet as he prepares his pages for the annual.

GOOD GAS SERVICE MAKES WARM FRIENDS

CONGRATULATIONS, GRADUATES!

Although now you are graduates, you can do a great service for the rest of us, if you never cease to be students — looking for opportunities and ways to cherish the American system of free enterprise and to improve the American way of life. You can be thankful for free schools in a country where you are free to worship and work and think and talk as you please. This is your heritage from the people who built America.

THE FUTURE is pretty largely in your hands — you must be vigilant and active to combat the evils of socialism, government domination of private industry, and all the "isms" that destroy democracy. We depend upon you to do a good job.

The Year Closes—Seniors Look Ahead

As graduation draws near, the class of 1967 looks forward to the challenges which lie ahead. Each senior is taking the last steps which will place him on the doorstep of his future. Some will go on to college while others will assume jobs, but all will be facing the situations for which their high school education was a preparation. As the seniors depart to meet the challenges of tomorrow, the underclassmen realize that they have completed another year in their advancement toward the time when they will leave the halls of Petersburg High School.

Therefore, it seems appropriate that a symbolic look to the future should conclude our book; yet even as the students, faculty, and administration end the work of the 1966-67 session, the school life and activity at Petersburg High continue to move progressively forward with an eye to the future.
